

Fellow Grovers Alison Winter and Leigh Martin are giving each of our members a free download of the Gracious Exit workbooks. Why do you need this? 75% of anyone over sixty-five are likely to need hospital or nursing home help for some period of time, perhaps a stay at a nursing facility to heal from a fall and/or surgery.

For our Taras and Nyomis, a big concern for those of you with aging parents is who will step in to pay bills, take care of the house and deal with investments if a parent is not able to do this any longer.

The Gracious Exit Workbooks are the tools you need to begin to document what you, or your parents, want and need to be cared for and remembered.

Grover Cindy Reed had this to say after completing the workbooks when these were given out by Alison at a retreat many years ago:

“Gracious Exit is what every person needs to ensure peace of mind for themselves and their loved ones. I have had the opportunity to use the tools for myself and have found them to be invaluable in planning and organizing my own affairs so that my family will not have the added burden of trying to access necessary information at a time of personal loss. I can’t say enough about how helpful Gracious Exit has been and to how many people I’ve recommended it!”

You may feel free to share this with parents, siblings, friends, and colleagues.

Make 2017 the year you complete these for yourself. You never know when you might need them.
