The Greater Portland Region encompasses four distinct territories, that when combined, make up a truly exceptional place to visit and explore. From Portland's vibrant and varied neighborhoods filled with award-winning restaurants, funky shopping districts and cultural scene, out to the sweeping fertile wine country of the Tualatin Valley, to majestic Mt. Hood Territory where the mountain serves as the base for outdoor adventure and up to quaint, historic Columbia County - Greater Portland truly has something for everyone.

Each part of the region nods to Portland's famed food culture in its own style. In the charming towns of the Tualatin Valley, you'll find a delightful mix of Asian delicacies and an up-and-coming beer scene, a strong farm-to-table program in Mt. Hood Territory, dotted with elevated fare at local brew houses and in Portland, an anything-goes mix of culinary creations from some of the country's top chefs. Pop up to Columbia County to try one of its many family-run favorites.

Greater Portland also offers just about everything when it comes to outdoor recreation. Biking is a central theme across the region in both urban and rural settings, and big outdoor adventure can be found in the countless places to kayak, hike, ski, snowshoe, mountain bike, raft, standup paddle board and zipline.

In addition, enjoy tax-free shopping, world-class arts offerings, and festivals that celebrate anything and everything! There's much to do, see, eat, drink and experience in Greater Portland and we hope you enjoy your stay.

Portland's penchant for good food has reached new levels of epicurean bliss with the opening of Pine Street Market, an indoor emporium boasting an impressive roster of established food and drink vendors. Led by Feast co-founder Mike Thelin, the emporium blankets the ground floor of the historic, 1880s-era Baggage and Carriage Building. A $5 million building renovation allows the market to house up to 10 tenants, including:

- Brass Bar - Brass Bar marks the fifth location for Billy Wilson's Barista coffee empire and is dedicated to a new line of house-branded and sourced beans.
- BYH- An addition from John Gorham, BYH ("Bless Your Heart") is a new burger joint moving into the market and being guided by Toro Bravo alumni Drew Sprouse and Jamal Hassan. Opening set for Feb. 14th.
- Kim Jong Smokehouse - American and Korean barbecue fusion from Langbaan's Earl Ninsom, Kim Jong Grillin's Han Ly Hwang and Smokehouse Tavern's BJ Smith.
- KURE - A menu complete with organic juices and smoothies provides fresh dining options to facilitate a balanced life.
- Marukin Ramen - Portland boasts the first stateside outposts for this famed Japanese ramen chain, with a second standalone location in the Central Eastside.
- OP Wurst - Olympia Provisions' "wacky" hotdogs live up to the quality and originality fans have come to expect from Portland's most prolific purveyors of meat and sausage. Toppings are in no short supply, including bacon, peanut butter sauce, smoked apple butter, banana, creamed corn and macaroni.
- Pollo Bravo - On show here is Spanish-style rotisserie chicken and assorted tapas from chef Josh Scofield and Sara Scofield, who have taken full ownership as of Jan. 1, 2017.
- Trifecta Annex -Ken Forkish (Ken's Artisan) has anchored his breakfast-minded eatery with baked goods and a toast bar in the morning, followed by Roman-style pizza (whole pies or by the slice) in the evening.
- Wiz Bang Bar - Reimagine Kim and Tyler Malek's Salt & Straw as a 1950s soda shop with experimental soft-serve ice cream flavors, and you have Wiz Bang Bar. Concepts include new takes on childhood staples, including "choco tacos" and milkshakes.

The oldest rose test garden in the nation, this Southwest Portland fixture was established in 1917 to rescue European rose hybrids from the ravages of World War I. It is the oldest official, continuously operated public rose test garden in the United States. Visit the garden during peak season (May through September) to see 8,000 rose bushes representing some 590 varieties on the 4.5-acre (1.8 ha) site in Washington Park.

The Portland Japanese Garden, also located in Washington Park in the city's scenic west hills, is a haven of tranquil beauty that has been proclaimed one of the most authentic Japanese gardens outside of Japan. Encompassing five and one-half acres and offering five separate garden styles, the garden includes an authentic Japanese teahouse (demonstrations only), meandering streams, intimate walkways and an unsurpassed view - weather permitting - of Mount Hood.

A $33.5 million expansion was completed in April, adding a complete cultural village to the garden experience with additional garden spaces, library, exhibit space and a tea café.

Portland, OR 97202
503.208.2054 / www.saltandstraw.com
Twitter + Instagram: @saltandstraw

Salt & Straw spotlights fresh, local ingredients in hand crafted, small batch ice cream. To call cousins, Kim and Tyler Malek's flavors "inventive" would be an understatement. Salt & Straw changes flavors every four weeks to tell a story of what's happening in the local artisan, farm and chef communities. These collaborations often result in unique and unbelievably good flavors like Pear with Blue Cheese, Bone Marrow & Bourbon Smoked Cherries, or Strawberry Honey Balsamic with Black Pepper. Salt & Straw has three shops in Portland - NE Alberta, NW 23rd and SE Division.

Townshend's Tea Company

3531 SE Division St.
Portland, OR 97202
503.236.7772 / www.townshendstea.com
Twitter + Instagram: @Townshendstea

Townshend's Tea Company began as a college project at the University of Oregon in 2002. The idea was to bring together a casual college campus-style coffeehouse atmosphere with top-grade loose leaf tea. That idea has grown into four locations where everyone feels welcome to enjoy Townshend's extensive selections. An inviting atmosphere, good music and friendly service make the teahouses gathering places for people of all ages. Opened in April 2006, this Alberta Street location is Townshend's first teahouse.

Tucked in a strip of antique shops, ReBelle's, a boutique opened in 2012 by Louisiana transplant Tausha Lell, is filled with vintage clothing finds, artists' wares, a custom perfume bar with nearly 60 fragrances and oils, and an ample dose of Southern charm. Open 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Stumptown Coffee Roasters

Portland, OR 97206
503.230.7797 / www.stumptowncoffee.com
Twitter + Instagram: @stumptowncoffee

In 1999, Stumptown Coffee took Portland caffeine lovers by the storm. What started as a single roastery on Southeast Division Street quickly expanded to the rest of Portland and, more recently, New York City and Seattle. Stumptown emphasizes direct trade and highlights the different flavor profiles of coffee varieties. While grabbing a latte from Stumptown may take longer than going to Starbucks, the gorgeous latte art, not to mention the singularly Portland vibe, will more than make up for it.

James Beard Award-winning chef Vitaly Paley puts his stamp on Headwaters, a beautifully reimagined eatery in the historic Heathman Hotel. The bright, modern space gives a nod to its past French influences and familiar faces greet guests – but that's where the similarities end. Commissioned artwork evokes an aquatic theme, which is echoed at the Sea Bar, stocked with raw, smoked and kippered offerings. For dinner, Chef Paley showcases harvests from the ocean, such as Steelhead a la Plancha with squid carbonara and local Ligurian-Style Stuffed Mussels with mortadella, crushed tomatoes and olive oil. A Russian Tea Service reflects Paley's heritage while showcasing blends from Portland's own Smith Teamaker. Open for breakfast, lunch, dinner and weekend brunch.
